POPE VERY HOMESICK.

Pontiff Longs for Venice and May Leave the Vatican.

New York, August 3.—A copyright cable from Rome to the Herald says:

In Vatican circles it is asserted that the Pope is homesick. Members of his household say that he is showing signs of fretfulness, and even of greater disturbance of his usual demeanor, owing to his longing for Venice, which overmasters him. It is believed he will leave the Vatican owing to this nostalgia, and perhaps pay a visit to Venice, accompanied by his favorite niece, Gilda Parolin, who is betrothed to a Venetian nobleman.

This news comes from an authoritative source, but it is certain that the majority of the cardinals will not allow the pontiff to leave the Vatican.
